A LEGEND OF NORTH MEXICO.

BY CAPTAIN MAYNE REID,

Author of "Rifle Rangers," "Scalp Hunters," "Hunters'

Feast," etc.

One Volume, 12mo. Beautifully illustrated. The price of "The White Chief" is $1.25.

This is another of those popular works of adventure which have taken such a hold of the American public-adapted as they are to rouse all that feeling of enthusiasm and thirst for bold deeds which seems to be inherent in the breasts of our people. Few writers have risen to such popularity in so short a time. The Scalp Hunters, Rifle Rangers, Hunters' Feast, and White Chief, form a library in themselves, for they contain not only thrilling rarratives of Wild Wood Life, but are full of informa-tion as to the habits and natural bistory of the desizens of the woods and forests, lakes and streams, be they four-legged or two-legged, or no legs at all. We subjoin a few of the many notices from the Press in all ections:

The Courant, Hartford, speaks thus:

'We like Cart. Mayre Reid's stories. They are well managed, a.d are contrived always to convey some information in natural history, or some knowledge of topography, 2r some intelligence respecting manners and customs that can be depended upon. This book, wole it centains a most exciting and fascinating story, is true to nature in its descriptions of scenery, its delineations of national character, sud, its details of manners and customs."

Gazette, Boston:

'It is spirited, romantic, and exciting, and conveys a good idea of the habits and customs which obtain in North Mexico."

Bee, Boston:

There is much in the book to stir the blood. It must be called the indefatigable Captain's best with this far."

Crissen, Lowell:

"Like all Reid's books, there is much useful information, derived from actual survey as to scenery, innahitants, etc. of these distant and romantic regions, to be met with in this book."

"Capt Reid's reputation as a brilliant and powerful writer is too well established to need any commendation from as. ""We can heartily recommend the White Chief to all, as a most entertaining and instructive story."

Mercury, Bangor:
"The construction ofthe plot gives evidence of a "asterly hard and the details are wrought out with boldness and tact."

Republican, Toledo:
"In this bock, as in allh is others, Capt. Reid evidences his preëminent faculty for portraying the dare devil ventures of the people of the Far West and South."

A BOOK OF IRRESISTIBLE FACTS!

And no one can the from its permel without a deeper detectath of an institution whose very shadow blights everything on which it falls, and which is most successful the nearer its subjects are reduced to barbasism.

Another ojection to this book is the fact that, being the production of one born a wave, into whose darkened intellect no ray of intelligence could enter except in defiance of law, it is a living re utation of the childsh theory of incapacity on account of color; and by its elecance of size, the power of its argumen's ard the clearness of its statements of fac's, it is a scathing re black to those States in which a insrep portion of the white population can neither read nor write.

Regardless of this lawless cemonstration against the rights of property and the privileges of chiisenship, we shall continue to publish FACTS when in our judgment they are demanded—either in reference to Slavery or any other Giant Crime—and we invite the attention of the
